

ISN 2018 Travel grants for Trainees and Persons from Underrepresented Groups

Funds from the National Institute on Deafness and Other Communication Disorders in the National Institutes of Health allow ISN to offer travel awards to citizens of the USA (or holders of green cards) for attending the 2018 ISN meeting. In past years nearly all eligible applicants have received awards. Applicants must be either:

1. Underrepresented persons who study or work in neurogastrology, or a field related to neurogastrology. Persons of recognized minority groups, disabled persons, and veterans are eligible.
2. Trainees in a field of science or a profession with a relationship to neurogastrology. Students, postdoctoral trainees, and clinical fellows are eligible.

Rules and procedures

1. Submission deadline is midnight Feb. 2, 2018.
2. Prepare a 1- 2 page cover letter explaining your reason for requesting a travel award and the relevance of your training or profession to neurogastrology. In this letter, provide estimates of the following costs: travel, lodging, registration (quotes or receipts are not required). Trainees should also provide contact information for two persons capable of verifying trainee status. Include your surname in the file name of your letter.
3. Prepare a resume or curriculum vita and include your surname in the file name.
4. Submit these two files as attachments to: neurogastrologyabstracts@gmail.com

Review criteria and rules

Preference will be given to the presenting authors of posters, but others are also eligible. Awards may be used to cover travel only within North America, lodging, and meeting registration. Award amounts will vary according to need. Notification of awards is scheduled for Feb. 10, 2018. Please note that awards paid are for actual costs incurred and are paid as reimbursements after submission of receipts following the meeting.
